Documentation

This application calculates the expected winning percentage and the expected number of wins for an American baseball team.

The required inputs are runs scored and runs allowed.

After pressing submit, the resulting output displays, both the expected winning percentage and the expected number of wins.

The algorithm is based on the Pythagorean expectation formula developed by Bill James (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pythagorean_expectation)